Two Days Dedicated to You and What You Do...

You and your family are invited to the 2nd Annual RaterFest!

Grab your family, your tent and your beer stein, and get ready for two days of BBQ, music and sweet Colorado sunshine. Network with Energy Raters from around the country and attend cutting-edge industry trainings while your family spends the day at Brookside Gardens' on-site spa or explores the beauty of Colorado's Front Range in September.

There will be delicious food, local microbrews and Rater jam sessions for everyone to enjoy, so bring your favorite musical apparatus and prepare to get down! Anyone who is a certified Energy Rater—or is on their way to becoming one—is welcome to attend.

Here's what RaterFest! 2009 participants had to say:

"I am amazed at how much was packed into the 2 days of RF! 2009 for the low cost—superb sessions, technical talks, lively discussions on marketing, and real world debate on running a Home Performance business in this economic climate—all while enjoying great food, the big sky of Northern Colorado and plenty of world class local micro beer. A great place to learn from top notch people in the industry."

—Steve Clark of Clark Energy Consultants

"RF! was a great opportunity to learn about best practices, make connections with other raters, and have a little fun!"

—Mark Bloomfield of Sustainably Built, LLC

"The RF! 2009 was a real 'tec-blast!' It totally 'blower-door-ed' me away! We drank a lot, but the things we were talking about still made sense. I really enjoyed the awards ceremony, too—winning Rater Partner of the Year was a great honor! Thank you, EnergyLogic!"

—Fritz Diether of Frostbusters & Coolth

"RF! is a multi-day conversation about energy audits and home performance contracting. I learned more in one weekend about my industry and the passionate people working toward energy efficiency than I ever could have on my own. I will definitely be there again this year!"

—Stephen Michael Self of Sustainable Interiors
